Montenegrin Battalion Reported to Have Seized "Gibraltar of Adriatic"

By United Press Leased Wire
Belgrade—War has broken out in the Balkans, according to advices from Albania Wednesday.

Montenegro was reported to have allied itself with Albania against the Jugo Slavs. Fighting was said to be under way at several points.

A Montenegrin battalion has occupied Mount Lovcen and hoisted the Montenegrin flag. This is the most strategic position in the Balkans and is known as "the Gibraltar of the Adriatic."

Following clashes with the revolting Montenegrins near Podgoritz, an important city 20 miles east of Cetinje, former capital of Montenegro, Serbian forces were reported to have started huge forest fires in the mountains.

Paris—Confronted with the possibility of a serious outbreak in the Balkans, the council of ambassadors Wednesday decided to demand that Jugo Slavia evacuate Albania.

A note will be dispatched to Belgrade immediately, it was said.

The council also signed a decision defining frontiers of Albania as approximately those of 1913.

Packers To Reduce Wage Of Workers

Cowards May Have Died At
Hands Of Men

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Packers, cowards and men mentally deranged, may have been shot by their comrades in France, Representative Royal Johnson, South Dakota, who served in the A. E. F., said in the house Wednesday.

His statement was a verbal bomb-throwing in the industry after the agreement under which wages were set during the war period, expired on Sept. 15.

The regular union organizations have voted to strike against the open shop declarations and have bitterly fought "company unions." These were formed last spring and the wage cut is the first major brought up for their consideration.

In the notice sent the Plant assembles, as the company unions are termed, no definite amount for the proposed wage cut was named.

Louis Swift, president of the Swift Packing company, in a letter to the Plant assembles of his concern, declared the company had "reduced expenses in every other way before an attempt was made to reduce wages."

"We trust members of our organization realize that we want them to suffer as little hardship as possible from the hard times which have befallen the country," Swift continued.

"It is only because of great necessity that we bring up the need of a further substantial reduction in expenses so that we can meet competition of other concerns operating at much lower labor cost."

"It is a well known fact that wages in other industries have come down much faster than in the packing industry."

"We have held off on the matter as long as we possibly can—longer than business warranted."

U. S. Will Curb Meat Profiteers

Average Retail Prices of Country Far Too High, Investigators Say

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—A campaign against "meat profiteers" will be begun within a few days by the department of agriculture which is determined to bring down meat prices, it was learned Wednesday from high officials of the department.

The department has just completed a survey which shows, officials said, that retail meat prices the country over are on an average 117 per cent higher than before the war. The survey shows most of this is going into the pockets of retail meat dealers as profit.

Various means are being considered by the department to force down meat prices. One plan is to permit the big packers to establish retail stores and sell directly to the public.

Another plan is to induce "chain stores" such as are maintained in practically all cities to sell meats.

Still another is to foster establishment of cooperative meat markets.

BANDIT VICTIM DIES OF WOUNDS

By United Press Leased Wire
Champaign, Ill.—Five bandits who held up the Illinois Central train near Paxton, Ill., will face charges of murder when caught.

This follows the death of Arthur Moon, porter, who died of gun wounds received when the bandits looted the mail car of the train Monday night after dynamiting the car and burning tons of mail.

Bandits got only $100 in cash according to the latest check Wednesday. It is not thought the loot will run much higher.

Postal authorities are working on the theory the robbery was performed by former postal employees.

WAR VETERANS TO FIGHT MAIL YEGGS

Washington—A special force of 1,000 men who fought the Germans in France will be organized as a permanent arm of the postal service to fight mail bandits, Postmaster General Hays stated Wednesday.

As soon as this force can be recruited, it will replace the one thousand marines who Wednesday took their places in mail trains, trucks and in postoffices as the first step in Hays' "open warfare" against the mail robbers.

JAPS WANT BIG FLEET

Discarding Useless Ships Will Be Method of Cutting Down Armament Expense

By David Lawrence

Washington—Back of the scenes where the American naval program is being mapped out for presentation to the conference on limitation of armament, there's an interesting discussion going on as to the value of battle cruisers. Can the United States afford to let Japan excel in this type of vessel which ever since the battle of Jutland has stirred up naval critics? There are two schools of thought—those who believe the battleship is the craft that must eventually bear the brunt of a sea struggle, and those who believe that without battle cruisers the United States cannot hope to compete with Japan in the Pacific.

The truth is the United States has six battle cruisers building and would enter the coming conference with much more ease of mind if those vessels were already in commission. For many years the movement for reduction of armament, has suffered because the leading naval powers did not wish to place themselves on an inferior basis. The present tendency of the powers is to preserve the ratio of strength that exists but to cut down the expense of useless ships—that is ships which would be useless if everybody agreed to dispose of auxiliary craft, now out of date.

Comparisons Made

Anyway it is essential in order to know just what the naval experts are talking about, to study the official figures giving the latest authentic information as to the strength of the five leading naval powers. Here they are:

	Battleships	Battle Cruisers	Light Cruisers	Destroyers	Submarines
U. S.	36	10	10	100	100

2 MEN KILLED IN ACCIDENTS THIS MORNING

Fred Kray, Appleton, and John Vandenberg, Little Chute, are Victims

KRAY STRUCK BY TRAIN

Vandenberg's Death Results From Collision With Green Bay - Appleton Bus

Two men were killed in accidents at Little Chute within a few hours of each other Wednesday morning. John Vandenberg, 30, was killed about 9:30 when an automobile in which he was riding collided with the Appleton-Green Bay bus, and Fred Kray, 33, Hancock-St., Appleton, driver for the Green Bay and Dray Co., was killed when struck by a switch engine at Hotchkiss crossing about 11 o'clock.

Kray, who was delivering a truck load of paper to the Combined Locks Paper Co. mill, was crossing the Ashland division tracks just across the river from Little Chute, when he was struck by a train composed of an engine and a passenger car coming from Appleton. The heavy truck was carried about 500 feet and Kray's body was badly mangled. Kray is survived by his widow and four small children.

Vandenberg was in an automobile driven by his son, Henry Vandenberg, when it collided with the bus which was driven by Walter Merkes, Appleton. The smaller car was going south on Wilson-st., and was crossing Main-st., when the machines came together. The Vandenberg car was pushed against a telephone pole, crushing the aged man. He died about a half hour later. Henry Vandenberg escaped without injury.

Witnesses said both cars were proceeding slowly and witnesses are unable to explain the accident.

Vandenberg is survived by his widow, four daughters, Mrs. Peter Hermesen, Mrs. George Vandenberg, Mathilda and Helen, one son, Henry.

District attorney Fred V. Heinemann made a thorough investigation of both accidents and, announced, in the afternoon that a coroner's inquest will not be necessary in either case.

After members of the cabinet who came from Belfast to determine the attitude of Ulster in the Irish peace negotiations had met their leader, Sir James Craig, the announcement was that they thoroughly approved the attitude of Craig and that they had no hope of alleviation of their stand.

This action may provoke a break in the negotiations, it was believed.

Hero's Body Is At Capital For Burial Friday

By Herbert W. Walker
Washington—America's unknown soldier will sleep this night beneath the dome of the capitol.

His body, aboard the Olympia, was nearing home Wednesday.

The Olympia was streaming slowly through the wide reaches of the Potomac, due to reach the navy yard at 4 o'clock. As she passed Washington's tomb at Mt. Vernon, taps were sounded while the crew stood at attention.

Twenty-one guns were to boom forth the salute, given only to the president.

From the navy yard, the body was to be taken to the capitol, where Wednesday night save for four comrades the unknown will rest in solitude. Following brief ceremonies in the rotunda, the capitol will be closed until Thursday.

Four buddies will stand at the corners of the catafalque, while a lay of eulogy will be read. None disturbs the slumber of the honored dead.

HOPE FOR FULL PUBLICITY

Senator Lodge Champions Belief That People are Entitled to Facts

By A. L. Bradford
(Copyright 1921, by United Press)

Washington—The American delegation has agreed that all plenary sessions of the arms limitation conference shall be open. Senator Lodge, one of America's delegates, told the United Press Wednesday.

This means whenever the full membership of the conference meets, the press will be present, if the American view prevails.

The American delegation's belief, it revealed, is that the conference should function somewhat similar to congress. Various questions before the conference will be turned over to committees. Those committees probably will hold secret sessions although this has not yet been determined, Lodge said.

Work in Open

Then under the American plan when a committee has agreed upon a program it will be taken before the full conference and threshed out in the open just as it is done in congress.

The American delegation has discussed the question thoroughly and has agreed on fullest publicity.

The American delegation has given no consideration to throwing open such proceedings of the conference as committee meetings and there is no thought that the publicity plan will be so ambitious.

"I don't believe the press is to be excluded from any of the full sessions of the conference," Senator Lodge said. "That question has been thoroughly discussed by the American delegation. I think it undoubtedly is intended to have the press admitted to all the full, or plenary sessions of the conference."

"I am not speaking with the authority of the American delegation, but that is my personal understanding of what will be done."

Red Cross Points To Last Year's Record

Support is Survey of What Was Accomplished in Year
Now Ending—Big Program Planned.

Believing that the best argument for continued support of people of Outagamie county for the Red Cross is a detailed statement of what the Red Cross has accomplished in the last year, officials of that organization on Wednesday made public a review of last year's activities.

The demand for Red Cross service is increasing instead of diminishing, making it imperative that at least as much assistance be given the organization as last year and more help really is necessary if the organization is to meet all its obligations.

Some idea of the work performed last year may be gathered from the following plain statement of activities: During the year 2,355 nursing visits were made by Red Cross nurses in the county. 450 county women received instruction in home nursing. 254 county people were examined at a chest clinic at Oneida financed by the Red Cross. The about service alone cost the chapter $4,645. Assistance rendered former service men cost another $1,820. Maintenance of office headquarters, including heat and light represented an expenditure of $695, new garment work just started cost $65 and rental of rest rooms and cost of first aid at two county fairs took another $50 out of the treasury. The total cost to the chapter of its activities was $7,255.

Others Have Helped

Other organizations have cooperated with the Red Cross Chapter in various ways. The 1920 class of Appleton relief school through its student relief organization furnished many dollars which went to pay for hospital care and operations for school children who needed care and who could not have had such care if domestic science classes have done sewing for county needs. Church societies and other groups have saved and furnished blankets for unfortunate families known to Red Cross and have helped to make the Red Cross funds last until the coming Roll Call.

Fifty per cent of the money collected in $1 memberships, aggregating $2,955, was sent to national headquarters for national and international relief. The other 50 per cent of the collections remained here for peace time work. Any district desiring to retain its half of the membership and do so by electing branch officers.

With this splendid achievement to point to, the Red Cross is confidently going to the people of Outagamie county for a renewal of their membership. Every person at all acquainted with Red Cross work knows what wonders it is accomplishing and are preaching the gospel of Red Cross wherever possible.

Plans for the campaign are being outlined by Hugh G. Corbett who is in charge of the drive. Solicitation is to begin on Armistice day and it is hoped to finish the work in just a few days as possible.

By Clarence Du Bose
(Copyright 1921 by United Press)

Tokyo—Assurance that Japan's policies and attitude in the Washington conference on the limitation of armaments and Pacific problems would remain unchanged despite the situation resulting from the assassination of Premier Hara, was given Wednesday by Viscount Uchida, temporary premier.

Uchida declared in an exclusive interview with the United Press that Japan's position in the conference will be the same as defined by Premier Hara.

"Despite the tragedy which removed Premier Hara from the leadership of the Japanese government, Japan's program and attitude in the conference on limitation of armaments will be maintained as defined by Premier Hara's leadership," Viscount Uchida declared.

"Furthermore the change in the complexion of the cabinet will not affect in any way Japanese foreign policies, particularly those policies affecting Shantung and Siberia."

"Japan sincerely hopes that an outspoken exchange of views on limitation of armaments, Pacific and Eastern questions will result in the furtherance of good understanding among the nations concerned and also in the recognition of legitimate rights and interests of each power represented at the Washington meeting."

BEER FLOW MAY BE ONLY FOR 10 DAYS

Washington—Medicinal beer will flow freely for the next ten days. After that again comes the drought.

Treasury officials announced Wednesday that enactment of the anti-beer bill upon which the senate has agreed to vote on November 18, automatically voids the beer regulations. This means that the four breweries recently licensed to make medicinal beer must again close their doors. Passage of the bill is virtually certain.

Having gained their point—the issuance of the beer regulations—by delaying passage of the bill, senate was ready to swallow defeat and leave the constitutionality of the measure to the courts.

COOPERATION IN APPLETON GIVEN WIDE RECOGNITION

National Shoe Magazine Tells How Three Local Merchants
Worked Together

The current issue of Shoe Retailer, a national trade publication, devotes an entire page to the manner in which three Appleton shoe firms, Bohl and Jaeger, Schweitzer and Langenberg and Hecker Shoe Co., got together on a cooperative basis and instead of cut throat methods featured a certain shoe in an advertisement in the Post-Crescent which in all of them sold and which appears in a reduced form in the center of the page.

The article headed, "Cooperation Ends Price Cutting War—Appleton, Wis. Merchants Decide to Get Together and Operate on a Friendship Basis—Confidence of Public is Restored and Better Business Results, reads in part:

"In Appleton, Wis., for a number of years the shoe retailers did not get the proper share of what competition really means. The merchant on the other side of the street was regarded as a hindrance to business in general rather than a help. And so it frequently happened that vengeance was sought by the cut price route to such an extent that the entire community of merchants suffered.

Public Loss. The public had no confidence in any one of the merchants in the town. One day Bill Jones would feature a certain shoe at a price, and the next day the merchants across the street came out with the same shoe priced just a little bit lower. And so the contest went on.

"Not so very long ago there was a price war on a certain shoe which has been exceedingly popular with the farmers in this section. This shoe was a work shoe made for utility purposes only, and in advertising this shoe the merchants lost all sight of the quality features and talked in price terms only.

"There is an end to everything, even war, and so this price war came to an abrupt close when several of the level headed merchants in town decided to get together and cooperate rather than fight each other. The idea worked out to a nicely and it was found that the competitor was a good fellow, and just the right kind of a person to talk business with in a business way. Finally it was decided that the merchants in Appleton should unite in a cooperative advertising effort, picking out a certain shoe and advertising it at a uniform price which in this case was a reasonable one and would insure 100 per cent value for the public.

"The results achieved in the way of actual business as coming directly from this advertising and the manifestation of the cooperative idea were really marvelous and surprised even the dealers themselves."

88 Outagamie Farmers Register Farm Names

Agriculturists Believe Farm
Name is Valuable Asset to Business

Farmers living in Outagamie county have been failing in line with the farmers of other sections and are naming their farms. The average farmer is not so much concerned with the naming of his farm as he is finding the most suitable name, said Albert G. Koch, register of deeds of Outagamie county.

"We make a special effort to help those making application to register the name of their property find a most suitable title," Mr. Koch said. "A name used in connection with livestock, dairy products or farm produce proves a real asset to the owner. Names suggestive of family ties, output or locality prove the most popular and usually survive the long."

It was brought out that unless copyrighted or trademarked the name of the farm becomes only a local asset. As an example, a farm name used in Outagamie county may be in very much the same sense as "goon" will be in any other business. Certain localities have become famous for their farms and for the names given them.

The following farm names, with their owners and locations, have been registered in Outagamie county: Apple Creek Valley farm, Ernest Harp, Freedom; Acreworth, E. A. WHAT FORCED THE
KRONPRINZ WILHELM TO LEAVE THE SEA?

The famous commerce raider ended a spectacular career when it was interned in an American port in 1918.

The ship was not driven in by the naval vessels of the allies. There was a deficiency of vitamins in the food served the crew. Over 100 men were on their backs with scurvy, some at the point of death. The ship could no longer remain at sea.

A supply of oranges and lemons would have enabled this harrier of commerce to carry on his work of destruction. That recently recognized food quality, vitamins, was lacking.

Oranges and lemons are recognized as containing vitamins in abundance. THE EFFICIENT WOMAN

We hear a great deal nowadays about the efficiency of woman. In the novels of fifty years ago, who ever heard a woman praised for her executive ability, force and energy, in the sense that it is used today? The frail, delicate, helpless ideal of womanhood has passed away. How is it possible to measure up to the ideals of modern womanhood? In the first place, we must keep our bodies in the best possible condition.

385 Outagamie Farmers
Register Farm Names

Agriculturists Believe Farm Name is Valuable Asset to Business

Farmers living in Outagamie county have been failing in line with the farmers of other sections and are naming their farms. The average farmer is not so much concerned with the naming of his farm as he is finding the most suitable name, said Albert G. Koch, register of deeds of Outagamie county.

"We make a special effort to help those making application to register the name of their property find a most suitable title," Mr. Koch said. "A name used in connection with livestock, dairy products or farm produce proves a real asset to the owner. Names suggestive of family ties, output or locality prove the most popular and usually survive the long."

It was brought out that unless copyrighted or trademarked the name of the farm becomes only a local asset. As an example, a farm name used in Outagamie county may be in very much the same sense as "goon" will be in any other business. Certain localities have become famous for their farms and for the names given them.

The following farm names, with their owners and locations, have been registered in Outagamie county: Apple Creek Valley farm, Ernest Harp, Freedom; Acreworth, E. A. WANTS TO KEEP CITY

John L. Meyer, formerly connected with the Appleton Evening Crescent and now managing editor of the Meyer News Service of Milwaukee has written Secretary Hugh G. Corbett of Appleton Chamber of Commerce expressing the desire of keeping in closer touch with commercial activities of Appleton in the future.

The Meyer service covers all of Wisconsin for 34 leading American trade papers and Mr. Meyer states that on this account and because work along commercial lines being carried on here is attracting attention in other places he is anxious to receive information first hand from Mr. Corbett.

WHAT FORCED THE
KRONPRINZ WILHELM
TO LEAVE THE SEA?

The famous commerce raider ended a spectacular career when it was interned in an American port in 1918.

The ship was not driven in by the naval vessels of the allies. There was a deficiency of vitamins in the food served the crew. Over 100 men were on their backs with scurvy, some at the point of death. The ship could no longer remain at sea.

A supply of oranges and lemons would have enabled this harrier of commerce to carry on his work of destruction. That recently recognized food quality, vitamins, was lacking.

Oranges and lemons are recognized as containing vitamins in abundance. You can secure entirely free through our Washington Information Bureau a booklet giving about 200 methods of using oranges and lemons. Fill out and mail the coupon below. THE EFFICIENT WOMAN

We hear a great deal nowadays about the efficiency of woman. In the novels of fifty years ago, who ever heard a woman praised for her executive ability, force and energy, in the sense that it is used today? In the first place, we must keep our bodies in the best possible condition.

MILITARY POLICY INSURES RUIN OF ADOPTING NATION

Plantz Advances Reasons for Disarmament at Father and Son-Banquet

"One reason why disarmament should succeed is because no military nation has ever succeeded in history by the adoption of a military policy," said President Samuel Plantz of Lawrence, Kansas, in his address on "Disarmament" at the father and son banquet and men's club dinner at the Congregational church Tuesday evening.

A military policy has been the ruin of every nation in history, he said. He cited the experience of Persia and Rome and said if one wants a more modern example he may take Germany before the war.

As a result of the war Germany today is the most humiliated nation upon the planet, ruined and burdened from which it cannot recover in one hundred years. Militarism is a false philosophy and leads to ruin.

The banquet was the most successful of its kind thus far held and was attended by 200 persons. The toastmaster, M. B. Elias, was introduced by H. L. Bowlby, president of the men's club.

Youngster Gives Talk
Master Harlan Hackbert, while young in years, had the confidence of an experienced dinner speaker and set a fast pace for those to follow. His subject was "What's the Matter With Father?" and handled it in an ingenious and clever manner.

"Our Sons, It's Great to be Their Father" was assigned to H. W. Tuttrup, who gave several reasons why it is great to be their fathers and spoke in a more sentimental vein. C. Willard Cross, new assistant pastor of the Congregational church, responded to "Finding God Together."

Musical was furnished by Appleton high school orchestra and the closing prayers were offered by E. E. Dunn and Alden Behnke. The banquet was served by Troop 2, girl scouts.

"Disarmament should succeed," said President Plantz, "because the existence of great armament is a great temptation for conflict. What are the facts in the case? Men desire to do things they are trained to do. You cannot get our football team to practice all season without playing a game."

"War preparations are electric buttons which need only to be pushed to explode elements of force for the destruction of civilization. We must have limitation of armament if we are to have peace."

"But the greatest argument is this: The insanity of war preparation in this day when nations are bankrupt by reason of the conflict through which we have passed."

Still Paying for Civil War
The speaker quoted figures showing the vast sums of money expended by the various countries during the war and said the United States, taking into consideration its refunding obligations will face a deficit of $2,000,000,000 this year and $1,500,000,000 next year and on the face of this we talk about going into this business of armament which is going to put a burden of taxes upon people far beyond the possibility of their endurance.

"We spent $2,300,000,000 in the civil war. We have been putting 70 per cent of our taxes for 50 years in the payment of that $2,300,000,000 and we haven't finished paying when this war broke out. This year we are spending 33 per cent in war preparation. In war debt and only 7 per cent in internal improvements and in the running of the country."

"Another reason why we should not accept this increase of armament is the forceful consequences that will attend the development of another war. Science and invention have concentrated themselves upon the method of human destruction and they have produced results which are so tremendous in their possibilities as to shock the imagination."

Humanity Forgotten
"You know that in the last war every element of humanity was dropped and every agreement between the nations was thrown aside in order that nations might win."

"Germany, for example, broke a code by attacking vessels in its submarine campaign. She dropped bombs from the air on peaceful communities. She took prominent citizens from Belgium and shot them down for the slightest offense against her soldiers."

"And then on April 22, 1915, she rolled across the trenches a gas for the first time in history and burned the lungs of soldiers who rolled with agony upon the ground. And then came liquid fire and Bertha guns that would shoot 60 or 70 miles."

"We looked on with horror for a little while and then developed a more deadly gas than the Germans had. We discovered a gas so forceful that if it touched the skin of a man anywhere it produced death. It was a thousand times more deadly than mustard gas."

"We have produced germs of diseases as a weapon to kill and they tell us these disease germs can create pestilence like the black death of the middle ages. Unless we intend to

Girl's Letter Identified Body Of Joseph Gosz

Had it not been for a letter written him by a girl friend, the body of Joseph Gosz, son of Mrs. Christina Gosz of 338 Lake-st., would have been buried as an unknown soldier on the fields of France instead of being returned here for burial in Needsville Tuesday.

On Nov. 24, 1918, message from the war department to relatives reported Joseph Gosz as "missing in action." It was stated that he had been missing since Oct. 16 and that he failed to come through the Argonne drive.

Later reports received were that he had been killed in action and that his body had been identified through a letter found in his pocket, although the address was incomplete.

Miss Vivian "Ardrige" had written the letter and because it carried her signature it was sent her by the war department to aid in identifying the soldier's body. In opening the envelope had been so torn that part of the soldier's last name was missing and the department's course was the only means of securing identification.

PRAY FOR SUCCESS OF PEACE PARLEYS

That is Request of Bishop
Weller of Fond du Lac
Episcopal Diocese

In the Sunday morning service, the Rev. Paul Keicher, rector of All Saints church, read the following letter from Bishop Reginald H. Weller head of the Fond du Lac diocese of the Protestant Episcopal church:

"Armistice day, Nov. 11 is a day of thanksgiving for the victorious ending of the world war and for the devout remembrance of our soldiers, especially the dead and the maimed, and for those who mourn. But this year it has special significance."

"The president of the United States has asked the prayers of all our citizens for the conference on disarmament which assembles that day in the city of Washington, and the presiding bishop and council of our church in the United States asks that that day and the Sunday following be observed as days of special intercession for God's guidance and blessing on the conference."

"During the world war, 19,658,000 of the best of the world's young men were killed in battle, not even to mention the halt, the maimed and the blind, the widows and orphans, the destruction of property and the accumulation of national debts that are crushing our industries and will be a burden to our children and our children's children. Experts tell us that another world war would destroy our civilization."

Grave Danger Ahead
"The relations between Germany and Poland, the Greco-Turkish war, now going on, the fearful condition of Russia, the strained relations in the Pacific and the far east, the general unrest throughout the world and the tremendous increase in national armaments constitute a very grave danger."

"The war stricken peoples of the world are stretching out their arms toward the conference at Washington as their only apparent hope for the future. That conference cannot leave us where we are and serious minded men are very fearful of results if that conference fails to find some rational basis for a very decided reduction in armaments."

"I am, therefore, setting forth a special service for the morning of Armistice day which I earnestly ask that all of our church people suspend their business and their household duties long enough on that day to gather in our churches and ask Almighty God to grant such a guidance and strength to the conference that it may not fail mankind in this critical time."

The bishop's letter was read in all the churches in the diocese and plans are being made to follow out his request by holding prayer services in the local church.

RASEY IS HERO IN ROTARY PLAY FOR BOY BENEFIT

Howell Thomas is Cast in Role of 16-Year old
Youngster

The cast for the drama, "Their Tomorrows," which will be played Nov. 30 and Dec. 1 at the Lawrence Memorial chapel by members of the local Rotary club and their wives is rapidly rounding into a professional rather than an amateur production. Rehearsals are held every evening at the high school under the direction of Miss Ruth McKennan.

Prominent Appleton men and women will be cast in strange parts in this interesting playlet, which is for the benefit of the Boy Scouts. Lee C. Rasey will be seen in the part of the hero, a young school boy of 18, energetic, youthful and a little bashful in his scenes with the ladies. His leading lady, Margaret Rowell, will be played by Mrs. John Engle, who carries the charm in her spirited part with the dignity of a thoroughly capable American girl. Howell Thomas will be seen in the role of George Rowell, a typical school boy of 16, quite breezy and a bit lazy, his weakness being for a good time and association with the ladies. The part of Mr. Butler, the gruff, uneducated father, will be portrayed by W. S. Ford while the meek and hard working little wife will be taken by Mrs. M. J. Sandborn. George Packard will be seen in the role of an indulgent father whose wayward son George causes him his chief worry. Mrs. L. J. Marshall, as the mother, also does her share in spoiling George in the same manner most mothers do, in giving him his own way in everything.

Why not come out of the shadows onto the sunrise road?

LIFE owes us all something—if we've protected our investment. Many of us try to go on collecting from life without protecting our investment. And we can't. And there's trouble—and disappointment.

What's become of those mornings when it was great to be alive, and every sense thrilled to the inspiration of health and energy and ambition? It was easy to collect from life then. Is it so easy now? Probably life is just the same—and it's ourselves that have changed.

Let's think: Have we protected our investment? Health was the big thing. Sound body and nerves—eat well, sleep well, play well, work well. That was the life. What's become of it? What is becoming of it—now?

Protecting or neglecting? It's very important to know—and in time.

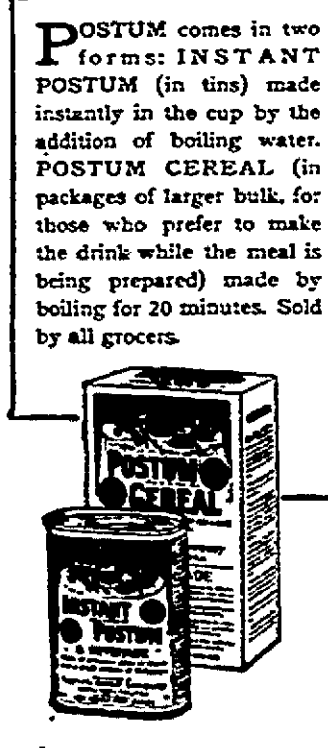

What about coffee and tea day after day? Let's look at the facts: Caffeine in coffee and their in tea are drugs—well-known drugs with a well-known effect. Useful, perhaps, when a doctor prescribes them. They whip up the nerves.

That may be all right—sometimes. But it may be all wrong all the time. In a great many cases it is all wrong; disturbing to health, as your doctor can tell you—robbing nights of sleep and days of efficiency, harming digestion, bringing headaches and high blood pressure—laying the grounds for serious trouble.

And the fact that the harm comes slowly and may not be noticed for a long time is all the more reason why it pays to be on guard—why it does not pay to take the risk.

And it's worth as much to keep health as it is to get it back

DOLLAR WHEAT AND THE TARIFF

One fine day the American people will wake up to the real extent to which they have been humbugged by the tariff gold brick. We used to elect our presidents on the tariff issue. For many years politicians succeeded in convincing a sufficient number of voters that America's prosperity was contingent upon a certain tariff to turn elections. They buccooned the farmer into believing that a tariff on wheat would spell agricultural prosperity, the laboring man into believing that protection of "infant industries" which were our greatest industry meant more butter on his bread. It took us about forty or fifty years to learn that we were being hoodwinked with the tariff, and it gradually sank to a place of insignificance in our elections. During the eight years Mr. Wilson was president we heard little or nothing about the tariff, and prosperity rose to the highest point in our history.

When the opposition got back into power in congress, and even before the election of Mr. Harding it sought to revive the tariff hoax. An emergency tariff bill was immediately prepared, and after a futile attempt to enact it into law, it was finally passed and signed by President Harding. That was last spring. A duty of thirty-five cents a bushel was finally passed and signed by President Harding. That was last spring. A duty of thirty-five cents a bushel was tacked onto wheat to prevent the then low price of $1.70 from going lower. The farmer was assured the emergency tariff bill would save him from further injurious effects of deflation and would restore his waning prosperity. The laboring man was told the same thing. The bill was heralded throughout the country as a measure of special benefit to agriculture and labor. It was to be the magic wand that was to exempt both from the gathering clouds of business depression. It was one of the first acts of the new administration to turn the nation into the paths that lead back to normalcy. Politicians were in great glee and spoke in glowing terms to their constituencies of the farm and factory.

Exactly six months later the price of wheat has descended to one dollar. This time the tariff miracle failed to work. The faithful "friends" of the farmer at Washington have failed to deliver the goods. Wheat at $1.70 was low, but dollar wheat is ruinous. Why did not the emergency tariff bill and its duty on wheat prevent a further price collapse? The answer is that the congress of the United States is powerless to fix the price of wheat. Tariffs have nothing to do with it. World conditions determine what the American farmer receives for his grain. It was so in 1896, and will be so in 1926. World forces, over which congress has no control, are responsible for the economic depression, are responsible for the low price of wheat. Only when congress or the government contributes to an improvement of world conditions will benefits find their way back to the United States. The paralyzed state of European credit is primarily the cause of dollar wheat, and all the tariff in the world will raise the price of wheat no higher than a congressman can lift himself by his bootstraps. There is a great economic principle involved in this demonstration of the futility of the emergency tariff act. It ought to dispel many awe-inspiring illusions about the tariff and the people have so long been led to bow down to and worship,

WHAT HAVE WE TO BE THANKFUL FOR?

With a sinister thought millions of idle American citizens have read President Harding's Thanksgiving proclamation. Shall we be grateful, they soliloquize, for unemployment? Shall we be grateful for profiteering? Is rent profiteering something to feel kindly about?

Thoughts of manufacturers, merchants and farmers are much the same. Shall the farmer be glad because wheat has declined to a dollar a bushel? And the merchant be happy over accounts that he owes and bills that he cannot collect? And the manufacturer be delighted because factories are idle and stocks have had to be sold at great loss? Shall the nation be thankful for the contention between capital and labor, and the propagation of class enmity?

General dissatisfaction is not confined to America. All over the world conditions are similar to those which prevail in the United States. The commercial reaction has caused an emotional depression, which, in turn, has bred discontent and animosity.

Some persons are thankful for anything and everything. Some are incapable of feeling the least gratitude. Some appreciate the little that they have or receive, and optimistically and patiently look forward to better times. Some hold that they should feel grateful only when they are most prosperous, and then they are too elated with success and enjoyment to show their gratitude.

Even if things are all wrong, there is much to be thankful for. We should be grateful cause matters are no worse, because we do enjoy many benefits. In fact, ingratitude disturbs peace of mind and minimizes the chances of recovery and impairs the mental and physical qualifications essential for improving conditions. If things are wrong, the proper mental attitude is one of gratitude for benefits enjoyed and of confident determination to improve the others. Ingratitude is pessimism.

The prevailing depression is temporary. It is a reaction against extravagance and waste back to economy. When it passes away, as it will in a few months, an era of sound prosperity will dawn.

There is much that all should be thankful for. Everybody prospered for a few years, and it is no severe penalty to bear a little adversity for a while. Business conditions are shaping themselves favorably. The first great movement for universal understanding and peace is progressing satisfactorily, and we are beginning to see our social and labor problems in a new light. There is very much to be thankful for.

MR. HARVEY AT IT AGAIN

"It has been my unhappy lot," said Ambassador Harvey in a speech at Liverpool the other day, "to dispel illusions with respect to the attitude of the United States." He then went on a fresh rampage in the diplomatic china shop by declaring that the United States would never enter into an alliance, or anything that could be construed as an alliance, with Great Britain, France, or any other nation. The government that he represented at Washington would never depart from the policy of isolation set forth by Washington. Mr. Harvey may or may not be altogether correct in his definition and his prediction, but whether he is or is not his speech was a serious and altogether uncalled for affront to the republic of France. M. Briand, premier of France, had just spoken of the possibility and desirability of an alliance between his country and Great Britain and had expressed the hope that it might ultimately include the United States.

Premier Briand was well within diplomatic properties in giving voice to these sentiments. No one can say with certainty that the time will not come when they will be reciprocated in this country. Mr. Wilson went so far as to negotiate a sort of treaty of alliance with France for her future protection against Germany. This incident alone shows that we are not all of the mind of Mr. Harvey, and that only the future can determine what the policies of this nation may be, or how it may regard obligations affecting the peace and security of the world.

It is not necessary for an ambassador to Great Britain to assume the heavy responsibility of formulating and disclosing America's foreign policy. It is not necessary for even a Col. Harvey to "dispel illusions with respect to the attitude of the United States." This is a function which under the constitution belongs exclusively to the president and his secretary of state, and it will be well if it is kept there. We are not aware that the department of state has been removed to London or that Mr. Harvey has been named as Mr. Hughes' successor. Mr. Harvey's second inexcusable blunder, giving needless offense to a nation for whom we have probably the most affectionate regard of any in the world, is enough to make President Harding feel that the price of paying political debts is indeed a heavy one. As for the scrupulous circumspect disreputable Mr. Hughes, we can well imagine what he is saying under his breath about the goggled representative at London who regularly insists on spilling the beans for him.

Health Talks

Noted Physician and Author.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Writers' names are never printed. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

PEP VERSUS PAUNCH

An eminent all-around specialist, that is to say, a specialist on nearly everything from the level of the thyroid cartilage to the level of the greater trochanters, if you are up on anatomy, remarks in a terribly dull paper on paunches that "the more intelligent woman will wear a suitable supporting corset to overcome this sagging of the abdominal wall."

It is certainly strange how long it takes old doctors, sometimes, to learn new treatments. This one has it all wrong. It is the unintelligent woman who resorts to corsets and other splints or casts to do the work the muscles ought to do. It is the intelligent woman, nowadays, who discards corsets or depends upon them as possible considering her past errors in hygiene.

Gather, from a more or less cursory, but without profane, estimate of the last 20,000 complaints I have heard, that the hateful slacker flesh accumulates first about the belly, loins and hips. Right where the corset gets in its deadly work, which is the production of atrophy of the muscles whose proper function the corset takes up. I suppose the deadly old doctor I have just quoted do advise the woman who has physical means of support to wear a corset to overcome this weakness.

Exercise within reasonable limitation is a good medicine, but after 10 years of trial of this medicine I regret to find that it has little practical value unless one prescribes it in an expensive form, such as golf. A sifter suffering seriously with a bad case of sedentary sloth has the time or the inclination (the always says he hasn't the time) to take two miles of oxygen on the hoof three times a day for that costs nothing, but he will not do it. He will put around a pasture lot every day, for that costs about a dollar a drive. Exercise will never become a complete success until some one discovers how to extract the active principle and market it in tablets. I hate it myself just as cordially as any other lazy fellow does. I love to sit in a comfortable office chair and tell other lazy fellows how they should take sufficient exercise every day. I haven't time to do all the things I say folks should do every day. I'd be a queer doctor if I took all my own medicine, wouldn't I? But I take my medicine, just the same, enough to keep me fit. If I am unable to get in the six miles of oxygen on the hoof, then I make up by forcing my complaining flesh to go thru a very thorough series of room gymnastics, all the movements of the Brady symphony and several additional stunts. And once the bitter taste of the dose is over with, the effect is certainly worth while. It keeps one feeling fine. It prevents the grumps, the glooms, the wilts and all that list of unpleasant symptoms of auto-intoxication or unburned pabulum and unoxidized waste.

Drops or saggings of organs, due to atrophy or wasting or weakness of the belly muscles and other supporting muscles, is a sin, not a disease, and a shame, not a misfortune. It is the penalty of two big mistakes: (1) wearing artificial supports not prescribed by one's doctor, and (2) ignoring the little matter of daily exercise as a health preserver.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Yards of Crepe
I was operated on for appendicitis eight weeks ago. I left the hospital two weeks after operation, and began driving our car three weeks after the operation. Now some people tell me I must expect some bad results from such early activity, tho my doctor is not among the crepe hangers. Please give me your opinion.—(Miss F. M. C.)

Answer—Invite 'em all to dance at your—last drive. But meanwhile you may rest assured you are playing safe when you follow your doctor's instructions. Our friends will have their little joke.

Swallowed His Marble
My son, aged seven years, swallowed a marble 10 days ago. I have given him repeated doses of physic, but the I have watched. I don't believe the marble has come away.—(H. E. T.)

Answer—It is probable that the marble was passed from the bowel within the first 48 hours. Do not give physic when a child swallows a foreign body. Nature can handle the problem better without such interference. You should have no anxiety. The marble can do no more harm than the average Elaud pill does! And it will do about as much good, too.

Taxi Terror Declines

By Frederic J. Haslkin

New York City.—Anybody who has ever had occasion to use a Manhattan taxicab will be glad to know that a reform movement is now in progress among taxi drivers here.

They have decided to abandon their bold, bad ways in favor of a life of virtue. Sir Galahad is a sign of improvement in the human race, we cannot ignore the fact that it is doubtless dictated by expediency. Hard times have hit the taxi business a particularly heavy whang. Many people, judging from painful experience that all taxi chauffeurs are robbers, will walk miles rather than use a cab, while the rapidly decreasing number who do use them are most careful to see that they are not cheated.

Last year, when the public's pocketbook was considerably fatter, it could afford to be a bit careless in the matter of taxi fares, but now at the first suspicion of overcharge, it calls a policeman or reports the matter to the city license bureau.

The complaints of citizens against taxi drivers are heard every Friday afternoon in the little courtroom attached to the Department of Licenses at 57 Center Street. They are nearly always proved to be justified, in which case the driver is ordered to refund to the passenger the amount of overcharge he charged, but if he does not also have his license suspended.

A Typical Case
On the Friday we attended this tribunal, for example, a young woman complained that she had been compelled to pay a taxi driver $5 for a trip which should have cost but $1.50. She had hailed a cab on West Eighth Street and asked the driver to drive to Thirty-third Street hotel. "About $2," he replied. Whereupon the young woman got into the cab. At the entrance of the hotel, however, the driver insisted that owing to several delays in traffic the meter registered $5.00. The passenger, however, paid the bill to the driver, and finally paid the bill to avoid a discussion that was attracting attention.

As she was entering the hotel, the hotel starter thrust a small piece of cardboard into her hand. "While you were talking with the driver, I looked at the meter and it registered $1.50," he said. "Here is the number of the cab. If you will report this to the license bureau it will see that you get a refund."

It did. And inasmuch as this was the second complaint registered against the same driver, he was deprived of his license. The moral of this story is quite plain. If you have reason to believe that you are being overcharged by a New York taxi chauffeur, don't waste time in argument and recrimination. If a policeman happens to be within hailing distance, tell your troubles to him. If not, simply take the number of the cab and if possible the number of the driver, exhibited on his shield, and seek the little courtroom in Center Street. Here you are sure to meet your taxi robber face to face. In all likelihood he will protest his innocence, swear that he has never seen you before and claim that he was ill in bed at home on the day you say he overcharged you. But if you are able positively to identify him, the odds

Q. What is meant by the "check-off" system, concerning miners? V. S. C.

A. The check-off-system refers to an agreement between mine operators and the union, by which the dues of union miners are deducted from their pay and remitted direct to the union officials authorized to receive them. This follows the system by which the accounts carried at the company store, rents, etc., are deducted from the miner's pay.

Q. Please give the length and diameter of the longest watermelon grown in the United States. H. V. H.

A. The department of agriculture says there have been exceedingly large watermelons grown in Missouri and Texas. In Missouri there have been a number of melons ranging from 50 to 90 pounds in weight. They recall one that weighed 164 pounds and was one yard and two inches long.

Q. How many railroads are there in the United States? I. C. C.

A. The 1920 figures show that there are 157 Class I railroads, 221 Class II, 418 Class III, and 247 Class IV switching and terminal roads. This makes a total of 1171 railroads in the United States.

Q. Why has the Venus de Milo no arms? V. W.

A. It is generally believed by art authorities that Venus de Milo had arms. These were broken off before the statue was discovered, after having been buried for a great period of time. The positions of the arms has been the subject of endless discussion.

Q. I understand that fighting ships are all in your favor. For long experience has taught the Department of Licenses that the people do not make the laborious trip to Center Street unless they have substantial grievances.

In accordance with rules laid down by the department, the driver of a public hack must produce, upon demand of its officials, a record of all trips made by his vehicle during a period of 60 days prior to the demand. Such a record may often be called upon to prove an alibi for the driver himself or his passenger not only in cases of this kind but in important criminal cases. The driver who fails to produce such a record or who presents one of questionable authenticity is not at all to be trusted.

The department also has a list of other rules with which the wise driver will comply. It is specified, for instance, that he must be at least 21 years old, of sound physique, with good eyesight, and not subject to epilepsy, vertigo, heart trouble, or other infirmity of body or mind which might render him unfit for the safe operation of a public hack in crowded traffic.

Qualifications of a Taxi Driver
"He must be able to read and write English," the rules continue, "have progressed as far as first papers toward naturalization, if alien born, must be clean in dress and person and not addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors. He must present satisfactory testimonials as to character and previous record, signed by reputable citizens, and supply a detailed description of his personal appearance, together with fingerprints and photograph for the files of the department. This photograph must also be attached to the little record book which every driver carries, to be produced for identification purposes at any time, at the request of either the passenger or officer of the law."

"Every taxicab must carry a taximeter, likewise a printed copy of the legal rates of fare. A higher rate may not be demanded. For a driver to offer his services at a 'flat rate' on the excuse of 'meter-out-of-order' is against the law; the fact alone of the meter not working properly automatically suspends his license until such time as the appliance is adjusted and approved anew."

"Any public hack displaying a 'ready-for-business' signal must accept any passenger who applies. It is prohibited anywhere within the city limits, whether it be just around the corner or to the furthest point of Staten Island. A driver who doubts the ability of a passenger to pay may demand payment in advance at legal rates, but must tender a receipt."

"No vehicle shall be licensed when the body thereof is so constructed as to enclose the driver with the passenger, or when such hack is equipped with curtains on the inside. Neither may a driver permit anyone to sit beside him on the box, such restrictions being necessary lest a taxicab be converted into a medium of crime."

New York now has between seven and eight thousand taxicabs. A large number of them belong to corporations, many of which employ drivers on a salary basis and stand responsible for their conduct. Many individuals who own one or more cars have also formed associations for their mutual benefit. Such an association has its own emblem and color scheme for the cars, as well as its own hack stand and telephone exchange, but each member pockets his individual profits.

The taxi business, like most others, grew enormously during the war, and with it the demand for drivers. The Department of Licenses had a sad time enforcing its specifications for drivers in the face of a labor shortage. Many of the drivers were charged with crimes, but the back ranks, up until last year, in fact, one could never be quite sure whether a taxi driver would turn out to be a convenience or an adventure. This year, however, we are more than back to normalcy. The streets are filled with empty cabs, even during the hours, and the taxi traffic terror has become a model of decorum.

Q. Do they have severe storms in Florida? J. N. C.

A. The weather bureau says that severe storms of the West Indian hurricane type occur at frequent intervals during the late summer and early autumn months over our southern districts. Aside from these, severe storms of other character are infrequent.

Q. How many diamonds have been found in the diamond mine in Pike County, Arkansas? G. S.

A. We are informed that more than 3,000 stones have been taken from this mine.

Q. When, where and by whom was the Titanic built? Was she ever in an American port? F. S.

A. The Titanic was built by Harland and Wolff at Queen's Island, Belfast. The keel was laid on March 31, 1909. The vessel sailed from Southampton on its maiden voyage to New York April 12, 1912. She never carried an American port.

Q. What city in Africa is the largest? I. N. R.

A. Cairo, the capital of Egypt, is the largest city in Africa.

Resume of American and Foreign Newspaper Opinion

Where Does Victory Lie?
Something flagged the plan for a railroad strike just as it was tearing along under a full head of steam, and it came to a dead stop with scarcely any grinding of its wheels. What operated the signal that read "Stop?" Did the men realize that "they had embarked on an impossible venture," as the BROOKLYN EAGLE (Ind. Dem.) says, and that "a public opinion overwhelmingly adverse to their policy was a strike to disastrous defeat?" Was the strike order reformed because, as the BUTTE POST (Rep.) thinks, "the simple truth is that the chiefs of the brotherhoods couldn't deliver the goods" and "their bluff was called," as the PORTLAND OREGONIAN (Ind. Rep.) adds. Or, on the other hand, was it because, as the CINCINNATI TIMES STAR (Rep.) says, "when a general railroad strike will be impossible, but if we are not to have strikes, we must have some mental machinery which will provide for hearings and the settlement of disputes without industrial warfare."

In its handling of the recent crisis the Railway Labor Board has earned "a vast amount of credit," the TOLEDO BLADE (Rep.) thinks, for "it has shown singular ability in getting itself listened to by men determined, stubborn and angry." And the SPRINGFIELD REPUBLICAN (Ind.) finds that it "gains in popular prestige." The great gain, in the opinion of the BOSTON POST (Ind. Dem.) is that "the Labor Board, backed by public opinion, has demonstrated that its decisions must be accepted as final," and "in the recognition of their peoples of governmental authority and public interest," the PHILADELPHIA BULLETIN (Ind. Rep.) believes, "lies the real victory which has been won."

But while, as the NEW YORK POST (Ind.) puts it, "a sea wall thrown up against the inundation of industrial warfare has held in an emergency," it still remains imperative that it be "strengthened against the future." Is public opinion alone, the CHICAGO NEWS (Ind.) asks, "without improved legal machinery for the prevention of transportation strikes, to be depended on under all conditions?"

Stretching Motors for a Living
To the list of those who make a living by smashing up valuable property has now to be added the car-breaker, says the LONDON MAIL, which gives an interesting account of the details of this new occupation.

"Strange as it may seem, many of the good old motor-cars are more valuable when broken up than they are when running order. This is one account of the splendid material that can be used in cars of moderate price owing to high costs and low selling prices."

"The cushions of all the good old cars were stuffed with the best horsehair, a commodity which stands at a prohibitive figure just now. And in the case of a big car, this may easily recoup the breaker for his entire outfit." The magnet of a four-or six-cylinder car is easily disposed of, and then there are lamps and switches, dashboard instruments, and a speedometer. Wheels are always saleable, and old tires go into the rubber heap and sell well. The shields and the glass in the covered body are worth money, and all the hood and door fittings can be re-nickelled and sold.

"But it is to the valuable steel used in the engine construction of old cars that the breaker looks for his best profit. Such metal as was then used is almost unobtainable now, and it can nearly all be re-machined, body are worth money, and the old story that in Chicago there is nothing wasted of a dead horse but the squeal is easily beaten by the motor-car, for there is no single part of it that cannot be sold. Even the old bodies, when they have had the metal plates stripped off to be re-rolled flat and used again, are sold for firewood."

Bread, crackers or rice usually form the basis for the stuffing. The stuffing may be plain bread, oyster, chestnut, sausage or raisin. The chestnut and raisin stuffing is just a shade sweeter, while the others are of course highly seasoned with salt and pepper and garden herbs according to taste.

Plain Bread Stuffing

Adventures of the Twins
Oliver Roberts Barton
Brushes and Brooms
The Twins took down the key of the house of the Nuisance Fairies, where Sprinkle-Blow had hung it on a nail, then they gathered up their brooms and brushes and rags and polished and crossed the road.
"Look, Nick," cried Nancy, "they see us coming. I was hoping they would all be asleep."
Nick looked up—and behold! Jumping lightning was looking out of one window, Old Man Flood out of another, Old Sizzly Dry-Weather out of a third, and indeed at every window in the house appeared the face of a Nuisance Fairy staring at them curiously.
"Well," said Nancy, "they'll soon know what we are after, and won't they be pleased to know that we are going to clean house for them?"
"I don't know," answered Nick doubtfully. "They say that Old Man Flood is an elegant scrubber."
"Don't you believe it!" declared Nancy. "He's the dirtiest thing!"
Farmer Smith always says he has to clean up after a flood.
The Twins slipped the key into the door softly and stepped inside, examining it behind them before even wily Jack Frost knew what they were about. "Goodness!" he said to himself with a sheepish grin. "If I'd known that I'd have slipped out and had some fun. What is it, kiddies? What are all the brushes and brooms and bottles for? You look as though you had just come from Scrub-Up Land."
When the Nuisance Fairies heard the news there was a great hullabaloo. Everybody was pleased and everybody came and shook hands and said couldn't he help and if there was anything he could do just to please mention it.
"No!" Nancy shook her head. "We'll clean upstairs first, and all you need to do is to be very quiet and keep out of our way. We are going to be very busy."

School Children Will Take Part in Armistice Day Program at Kaukauna

The Kaukauna post of the American legion has prepared a program to be given Friday morning at the auditorium and school children from the fifth grade and up will attend the demonstration. If no school holiday be declared, appropriate exercises will be given by the pupils who do not attend the legion program.

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in the apples, grapes, pears, lemons, oranges, and other fruits. It is from just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach. It is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalize wornout, exhausted nerves and give you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron—Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N.I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists in tablet or liquid form.

Thief Turns Down CASH FOR BUTTER

Neenah.—With the price of butter steadily climbing to new high levels the modern burglar overlooks the cash register and concerns himself chiefly with the refrigerator.

This is the opinion of authorities here following an attempted robbery and run battle at the Neenah Dairy company's establishment.

Sidney Ames, watchman, discovered a bandit in the ice box. He fired at, pursued and fought with the intruder but the latter escaped, dropping his sunnysack in the flight.

The box was found to contain two pounds of butter.

COUNTY HOLSTEIN CLUB TOO CLUMSY TO BE EFFICIENT

Plan of Organization of Local Groups Will be Discussed at Annual Meet

Reorganization of Outagamie County Holstein Breeders' association on a basis that will cause breeders to take a more active interest in its activities and under which there will be more efficient promotion of the purebred dairy industry is proposed in a plan that will be submitted to the members at the annual meeting in the city hall Thursday afternoon, Nov. 1.

Experience of the association since it became a factor in Outagamie-co. has shown that a county-wide organization is too cumbersome. Distance is a bar to the representation each locality is entitled to at the meetings, and the concerted work which should be done is hampered because the contact of leaders is not local enough.

This would be overcome, it is believed, if local Holstein clubs could be formed in several parts of the county, each with its own officers and separate set of officers including a president and secretary. A tentative suggestion will be that local clubs be formed at Seymour, Hortonville, Appleton and Kaukauna.

Have County Officers Officers of these groups would constitute a board of directors of the county association, and these men would elect the officers to direct the work of the county at large. A portion of the fees collected in each locality would go into the county treasury.

Several of the most enterprising dairy counties in Wisconsin have tried this plan with marked success. They find that many more Holstein breeders attend meetings when they have a shorter distance to go and the interest is centered in their immediate locality. The officers have a more personal contact with the members, and promotion work can be carried on effectively because those reached are not so far away from the central governing body. It also is possible to inject healthy stimulation among the county groups to stimulate interest in replacing scrub cattle with profit-making purebreds.

The reorganization idea is to be aired thoroughly at the county annual meeting. Each farmer will be expected to say what he thinks about the plan. A majority vote of the county association is required and the largest attendance in history is looked for in order to make the decision truly indicative of the feeling of the farmers. A new constitution must be adopted setting forth the scope and activities of the new organization.

ELECTRIC FREIGHT LINE PLAN REVIVED

Railroad Commission Informed of Plan for Utilizing Electric Lines

A proposed plan of through freight transportation over electric lines from Green Bay to Fond du Lac was given an impetus by the threatened railroad strike which did not materialize.

This plan originated with C. M. Starks, traffic manager of the Oshkosh Association of Commerce, who has succeeded in interesting Neenah, Menasha, De Pere, Green Bay and Fond du Lac in securing through freight transportation service over electric lines in the Fox river valley. When the rail strike threatened, Mr. Starks, asked the Wisconsin Railroad commission if it would order the valley electric lines to provide through freight transportation in the event a strike occurred. The commission replied that it could make this recommendation to the various lines but the inauguration of through freight service would depend upon the provisions of the franchises under which the various lines operate.

Since the plan has been brought to the attention of the commission, it is believed that some definite action on the matter may be taken in the near future by the various lines involved. It is believed that the service would be profitable to the traction companies as well as beneficial to the public. In the event the Green Bay to the Sea waterway becomes a reality it is pointed out that this service would be a necessity as then Green Bay would virtually be a world port.

In this connection it has also been suggested that the Wisconsin Electric company build a line from Fond du Lac to Oshkosh in order that Green Bay would be connected with Milwaukee. By supplying this "missing link" in the line through freight and passenger service from Milwaukee to Green Bay would be very practicable. R. W. Arnold, manager of the company, declares it is impossible for the company to undertake construction of extensions as long as state administration maintains a lenient attitude toward motor bus lines.

Almost Every Kind Of Soil Is Found In This County, Survey Shows

Government Provides for Free Distribution of Booklets Describing Soil Conditions in Outagamie County.

Congressman David G. Classon of the Ninth district has made arrangements with Paul O. Nyhus, farm agent of the First National bank, to distribute to all farmers in the county who wish them copies of the soil survey of Outagamie county.

made by the United States department of agriculture.

The books contain an analysis of every type of soil found in the county and each is accompanied by a colored map showing where the various kinds of soil may be found. Any farmer may turn to the map and find out the nature of his land.

Congressman Classon wanted every farmer to have a copy of the publication because there are plenty for free distribution at Washington. He did not know the best way to get them to the rural districts, so asked Mr. Nyhus to arrange the distribution. He will supply them at the bank without any charge or obligation whatever to all who call for them, or they will be mailed to any address on request to Mr. Nyhus in care of the First National bank, Appleton.

Considerable time was spent here by a representative of the department of agriculture several years ago to gather the information. He made soil tests in every part of the county, taking samples on which to base the report which the government has had printed.

Big Peat Deposits

It is shown by the survey map that there are extensive peat deposits in the county, mostly along Black Creek and Wolf river. They are largely in the northern and western portions of the county. In the town of Greenville the soil is almost entirely what is called Keweenaw silt loam. There is almost a continuous strip of plain Keweenaw loam running north and south through the towns of Grand Chute, Freedom, Osborne and Seymour. This type of soil is shown to have a surface loam of about 10 inches of brown, mellow ground high in organic matter, under which is a red clay subsoil.

All Kinds of Soil

Where the towns of Maine and Cicero join there is almost every kind of soil listed, from sand to black loam. There is little land that is heavily sanded, although here and there a sandy tract occurs, mostly in the western half of the county.

Merrimac loam predominates in the northwestern corner of the county, more especially in the towns of Maple Creek and Deer Creek. This is described as a dark brown loam free from stones and gravel, yet with a considerable percentage of fine sand. Clay loam is found in marked quantities all along the banks of Fox river and in Appleton.

Each type of soil designated on the soil map is fully described in the survey booklet, telling what kinds of crops are grown most extensively or might be grown with profit in each section. Climatic conditions also are referred to, with a brief history of the industrial and farming activities of the county.

BUSINESSMEN WANT CHANGE IN RULES

Several Appleton Men Vote With National Economic League

In a straw vote taken among representative business and professional men of every state in the union recently by the National Economic league, it was shown by an almost unanimous majority that these classes favor changes in congressional rules which would permit members of the president's cabinet to appear on the floors of congress and present their views and budgets in matters of administration and finance.

The first question on the ballot was: "Should there be open, visible and responsible leadership in matters of national finance and administration?"

One thousand thirty four votes were received. Of these, 884 voted Yes, 23 voted No and 23 did not vote.

The second question was: "Should there be an executive budget prepared under the direction of the president and publicly explained and defended before Congress by members of the cabinet?"

One thousand thirty four votes were received. Of these 979 voted Yes, 37 voted No and 14 did not vote.

Wisconsin members of the National Economic league are Judson G. Rosebush of Appleton, Louis Schriber of Oshkosh, M. A. W. Wertheimer of Kaukauna, F. J. Sensenbrenner of Neenah, George A. Whiting of Neenah, George S. Gaylord of Neenah, W. H. Hutton of New London, L. M. and Walter Alexander of Wausau, William A. Fannon of Appleton and George P. Berkey of Wisconsin Rapids.

SEEK ESCAPE FROM CABBAGE DISEASE

Growers Meet Here Monday to Consider Purchasing Seed From Far West

Whether growers as an association shall buy their cabbage seed in one lot from the Puget Sound, Washington, seed district is to be taken up at the county meeting of cabbage growers to be held in the council chamber of the city hall at 1:30 Monday afternoon.

J. C. Walker of the college of agriculture, Madison, who has devoted years of study exclusively to combating of cabbage diseases, has consented to come here and advise on the proposed plans.

Purchase of seed from Puget Sound is looked upon favorably because climatic conditions there are ideal for growing hardy seed, whereas the conditions here are not as good. It takes two years to raise a good seed crop.

Perhaps the principal reason why western seed is best is that men from the Wisconsin college of agriculture make annual trips to the coast and inspect the fields from which seed is sold. Seed for Wisconsin then is bought only from inspected fields which are known to be free from disease.

Can't Get All Germs

Treatment of ordinary cabbage seed has been tried in Wisconsin with good results. It is found, however, that seed inoculation may kill 99.9 per cent of the germs, but a small trace of black leg or black rot disease is left on the under side where the glands fail to take effect. It is surprising, growers say, how this small infection will spread in the fields when the plants grow.

Full particulars of a buying arrangement are to be explained at the coming meeting, to which every grower in the county is being invited. Leading growers and shippers are backing the movement to better cabbage conditions and eliminate the yearly losses from cabbage made worthless by disease.

AERIAL BATTLE IS ON CARDS FOR NEXT SATURDAY

Big Delegation of Oshkosh and Ripon Fans Will Follow Ripon Team Here

Nearly all of Ripon and about half of Oshkosh will be in Appleton next Saturday afternoon prepared to bet every last kopeck these fanatical fans can gather together that Ripon will win the Little Five conference championship. That is the information coming from Ripon and Oshkosh where the interest in the forthcoming battle on Homecoming day is almost as keen as it is in Appleton. These fans have not forgotten the trouncing which Lawrence handed to Ripon last year and they are eager for revenge.

All of which adds to the local interest in the big game. While the fans are guessing and conjecturing, McChesney and his coaching aides are going about their business of putting the Blue and White squad into the best possible condition for the fray. Much of the work has been done behind locked gates and it is not probable that the public will get a glimpse of the team until just before the whistle blows Saturday afternoon.

While the Gustin-Schneider combination is the most dangerous on the Ripon team, McChesney is not going ahead with the belief that when he has evolved a defense for those two men that his troubles are over. There are nine other men on the Ripon team who need watching and he is springing them. Ripon is noted for springing a few surprises every year and next Saturday is the time when the Red and White would like to hand out its little jolt.

Backfield Improving
The coaches are quite well satisfied with the way the Lawrence backfield is operating. With Barry, Boettcher and Basing working together it is a hard combination to beat, especially in line plunging and off tackle dashes. None of the men are much at skirting the ends but they do know how to tear through the line. Ziebell is showing lots of improvement in the quarter back position and is becoming proficient at throwing passes.
Fans may be prepared to see an aerial battle if the field is dry so that the ball can be handled. Ripon depends almost entirely upon air plays for its gains while Lawrence, with a much stronger line, probably will rush the forwards most of the time but is well equipped with aerial dazlers.

Sport Views And News

If there has been any bitterness in the hearts of Kaukauna people toward Appleton it should have been removed following the football game here last Saturday. It was one of the cleanest and best played games ever on Lawrence field. Despite the keen rivalry between the teams the feeling was excellent and there was not a single detracting moment in the contest. The fans cheered Kaukauna as loudly as they did Appleton and well they should, for Kaukauna has a good little team and gave Appleton a regular, honest-to-goodness fight.

The fur should fly in Chicago Sunday when the Decatur Staleys and Rock Island Independents get together in a game that will go a long way towards deciding the professional championship of the middle west. Football fans who saw Flanagan's tribe in action against the Packers, think the Staleys are going to have their hands full and a little bit more besides.

A promoter's life isn't all joy and Ted Rickard is getting his share of bumps these days. Uncle Sam has plucked a few fines on him for showing the Carpenter-Dempsey fight picture and now a New York broker, who claims to be a partner in Rickard's recent ventures, has filed a couple of serious charges against the fight manager, one of which is for assault and battery. As usual, Rickard will probably emerge without a mark.

The basketball bee is beginning to buzz around pretty lively. It looks like a big season for the court game. The organization of the Central Wisconsin professional league, should boost the sport. Strong quintets are being formed in this part of the woods and the race for the championship should furnish some classy basket caging.

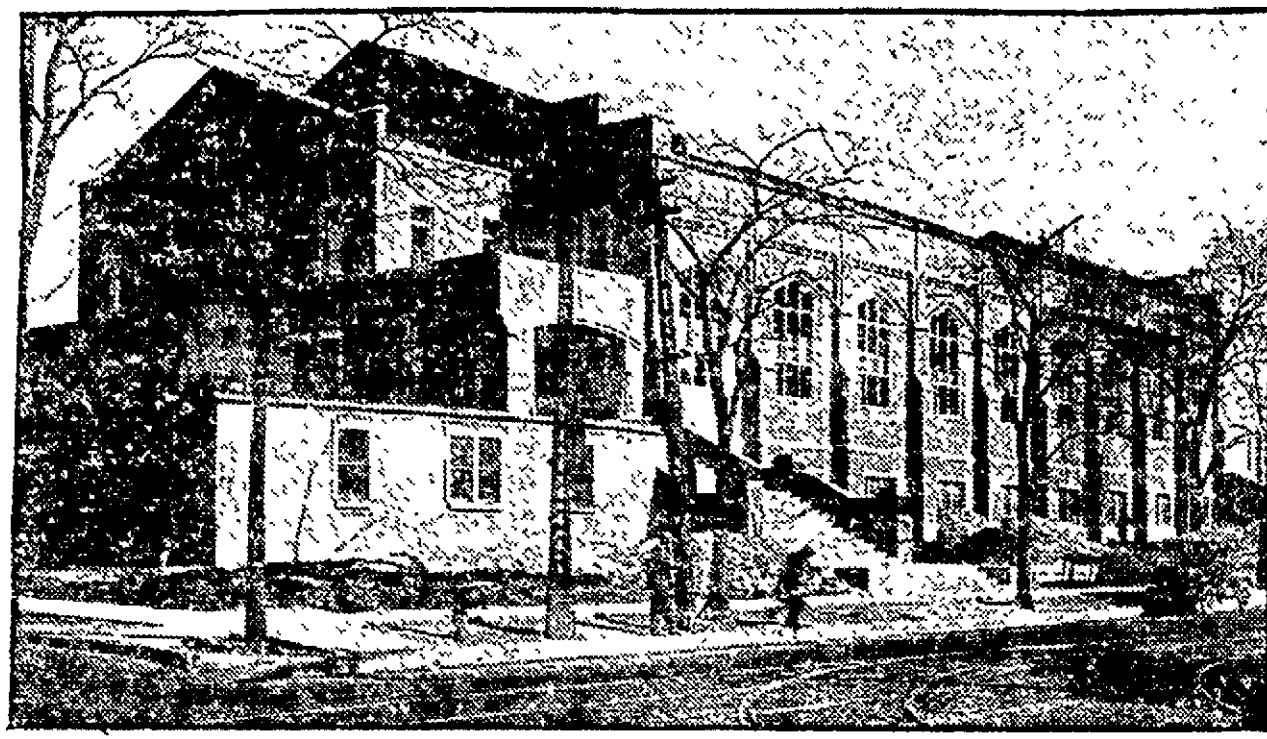

Princeton beat Harvard, Chicago took the Tigers out camp, Ohio State need out the Maroons, and the Buckeyes were trounced by Cornell. Isn't that a fine little muddle? If a deer counted for anything his minor Ohio college would have a claim for championship honors but when the deers begin dopping the title winning team, Cornell will not even be thought of.

Marquette's New Gymnasium

A day or two ago this newspaper printed a story to the effect that Lawrence college no longer can be classed among the smaller colleges of the country but now is now is one of the bigger schools, with its enrollment of approximately 1,200 compared with 450 for Ripon, 250 for Carroll and about 400 for Beloit. But the visiting basketball teams which must play in Alexander gymnasium never would know the school was any larger than Podunk academy or Pine Grove seminary if they were to judge the size of the school from the size of the gymnasium. Lawrence college is pretty well equipped in every way except with a gymnasium and there probably isn't a bigger need at the college right now than for a big hall where basketketball games can be played. Indoor track meets held and as a place for enthusiastic meetings of students. Marquette university, Milwaukee, which wasn't any bigger than Lawrence a few years ago, has realized this need of an adequate gymnasium and has authorized construction of the splendid building pictured above. The structure will be ready for occupancy shortly after the first of the year and it is probable that several of this season's basketball games will be played in it.

Seats For 4,000

The new building is at the corner of Clyburn and State streets and cost about $250,000. When finished it will have a seating capacity of 4,000 and still leave room for a basketball game. It has been one of the biggest needs of the big Milwaukee school. Alexander gymnasium can accommodate only a few hundred at the most at a basketball game. The playing floor is so small and the roof is so close to the floor that it is impossible to play real basketball there. Lawrence teams, which must do their practicing in Alexander gymnasium, are lost when they get on a real floor and consequently are at a big disadvantage in the conference races. All of the other schools in the conference have much better basketball facilities than Lawrence.

Students and alumni see the need of a new building and it is probable that action toward securing an adequate structure will be started before many months have gone by.

"BRIGHT LIGHTS" KNOCKED SHARKEY OUT OF RUNNING

Popular Young Scraper Has Seen Error of His Way and Gets New Chance

By Henry L. Farrell

New York—Broadway is the poorest training ground in the world.

Even in these rather tame days, what is left of the old bright lights of the city while they do not tend to condition an athlete.

The "old timers" tell this but the youngsters don't always listen.

The little bantam, Jack Sharkey, the most popular boxer in New York, didn't listen and he lost two great chances for the crown of the little fellows.

Providing the exception to the old line about opportunity knocking only once, Sharkey gets his third big chance Thursday night in Madison Square garden when he goes into the ring with Johnny Buff, holder of the flyweight and bantamweight titles.

Three years ago Sharkey was just one of those little fellows who can be found hanging around any gymnasium in any town. He had "some stuff" but he never had a chance to get it out.

Sharkey left New York and he was never missed until he made his overnight jump into fame by defeating Jimmy Wilde, the British flyweight champion out in Milwaukee.

Too Much Success
When he left his home town Sharkey was a "five buck" sparring partner, when he came back he was a $10,000 attraction.

His thrilling 15 round draw with Joe Lynch in the Garden is still remembered and the events that followed are still being held up as examples by managers with young prospects.

Having more money than he ever dreamed of before, Sharkey hit Broadway. He liked the lights and he had a bunch of friends who liked to sit under the glare with him.

The public demanded another Sharkey-Lynch go and it ended in a knockout of a sadly unconditioned boy. Lynch, the victor and the clean liver, went out and got the title.

Sharkey could have had another bout with Lynch but Tex Rickard wanted him to prove himself. He failed to train for what he thought was a set up and he was again beaten by Roy Moore.

The Broadway moral finally hit him and he started training. He admitted that the "old timers" were right and he went back to work.

His third chance for the title is just as good as the other chances. All the other bantams have been clamoring for the first crack at Buff but fate was kind to him and he is the lucky one.

weak to continue. It was Zbyszko's first match in his tour of the country. John Freiberg of Chicago defeated Jack Rogers of Montreal in another bout.

GUARD BASKETEERS TO PLAY NEXT WEEK

Opening Game Will be Played With Foresters — Join State League

About a dozen members of the National guard have reported for basketball practice and a strong military team is in prospect. The squad will meet in the armory Wednesday evening. The boys were out Monday and several times last week.

The bid will be blown off the season next Thursday night when the Guardsmen play the Catholic Order of Foresters team in Arnor G. No admission will be charged for this game. Both teams are working hard for their initial struggle.

Manager Leonard-Jacobs will enter the team in the state National Guard league and also wants the squad to get in a league to be formed by the F. M. C. A. The schedule for the guard league has not been completed.

Several of last year's men form the nucleus for this year's squad. Among the men who have reported for practice are Milford Taylor, Walter Wetzel, Robert Sanders, Richard Boya, Ray Riley, George Bellev, Horn, Knudsen and Stihl. Several others also have been working out with the team and may become members of the regulars squad.

BASKETBALL PROSPECTS GOOD AT HIGH SCHOOL

Basketball practice at the high school will be started immediately after the close of the football season, it has been learned. Coach Vincent has several members of last year's state championship team to build a new squad on and expects to be in the running from the first jump. A heavy schedule now is being drafted, including games with Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Green Bay and other strong teams in this section of the state.

NOTRE DAME ROUTS RUTGERS ELEVEN

New York—Notre Dame on Tuesday converted its football game with Rutgers into a track meet and, running circles around the eastern team, claimed a 48 to 0 victory.
